THE AMERICAN'S CREED

I believe in the United States of America as a government of the people, by the people, for the people, whose just powers are derived from the consent of the governed, a democracy in a republic; a sovereign Nation of many sovereign States; a perfect Union, one and inseparable, established upon those principles of freedom, equality, justice and humanity for which American patriots sacrificed their lives and fortunes.

I therefore believe it is my duty to my Country to love it; to support its Constitution; to obey its laws; to respect its flag, and to defend it against all enemies.

A COLLECT FOR CLUB WOMEN

Keep us, O Lord, from pettiness; let us be large in thought, in word, in deed.

Let us be done with fault-finding and leave off self-seeking.

May we put away all pretense and meet each other face to face, without self-pity and without prejudice.

May we never be hasty in judgment and always generous.

Let us take time for all things; make us to grow calm, serene, gentle.

Teach us to put into action our better impulses, straightforward, unafraid.

Grant that we may realize that it is the little things that create differences; that in the big things of life we are as one.

And may we strive to touch and to know the great common woman's heart of us all, and,

O Lord God, let us not forget to be kind.

—MARY STEWART.

1. The first part of the paper is devoted to a general discussion of the problem of the origin of life. It is shown that the problem is one of the most important and most difficult in the history of science.

2. The second part of the paper is devoted to a discussion of the various theories of the origin of life. It is shown that the most plausible theory is the theory of spontaneous generation, which is based on the fact that life is a complex of many different parts, each of which is capable of reproducing itself.

3. The third part of the paper is devoted to a discussion of the various experiments which have been conducted in order to test the theory of spontaneous generation. It is shown that the results of these experiments are in general in favor of the theory.

4. The fourth part of the paper is devoted to a discussion of the various objections which have been raised against the theory of spontaneous generation. It is shown that these objections are generally unfounded, and that the theory is well supported by the facts.

5. The fifth part of the paper is devoted to a discussion of the various applications of the theory of spontaneous generation. It is shown that the theory has many important applications in the fields of biology, medicine, and agriculture.

6. The sixth part of the paper is devoted to a discussion of the various conclusions which can be drawn from the theory of spontaneous generation. It is shown that the theory is a very important one, and that it has many important implications for the future of science.

7. The seventh part of the paper is devoted to a discussion of the various references which have been made in the paper. It is shown that the references are all of the highest quality, and that they are all of the most recent date.

8. The eighth part of the paper is devoted to a discussion of the various acknowledgments which have been made in the paper. It is shown that the acknowledgments are all of the highest quality, and that they are all of the most recent date.

9. The ninth part of the paper is devoted to a discussion of the various conclusions which can be drawn from the theory of spontaneous generation. It is shown that the theory is a very important one, and that it has many important implications for the future of science.

10. The tenth part of the paper is devoted to a discussion of the various references which have been made in the paper. It is shown that the references are all of the highest quality, and that they are all of the most recent date.
